

Transforming Parents' Lives. Improving Children's Futures.

Warren Village Welcomes New Vice President of Development, Jhon F. Londoño, Ph.D.

DENVER (Sept. 8, 2020) – Warren Village, a Denver-based organization focused on helping low-income, single-parent families make the journey from poverty to self-sufficiency, is pleased to announce that Jhon F. Londoño, Ph.D. has joined the organization as vice president of development.

Londoño will lead the organization's development and communications team as they chart a new phase of growth for the organization. Previously, he was the director of development for Focus Points Family Resource Center in North Denver, where he led his team to exceed revenue goals and expand its visibility and reach throughout Denver. Londoño comes to Warren Village with a trajectory extending nearly 30 years in corporate and non-profit sectors, as well as multiple, successful entrepreneurial ventures.

"I'm honored to join Warren Village at this critical time in its rich history and strong trajectory of helping single parents and their children here in Denver on their journey of impact and transformation," said Londoño. "I look forward to doing my part to add to the strong foundation the organization has built since 1974."

"We are incredibly excited about the skills, perspective, and passion that Jhon brings to Warren Village as a development leader and a key member of the leadership team," said Ethan Hemming, Warren Village president & CEO. "Jhon's 18 years of experience in the non-profit sector—from president and CEO of a New York-based foundation to director of development and every position in between, as well as prior successful corporate engineering and Silicon Valley entrepreneurial experience—will help position us for future growth."
